367 GRADUATES OF GHS ATTEND ANNUAL DINNER

Three hundred sixty-seven Gettysburg High School graduates, about a tenth of the living alumni of the institution, attended the 56th annual association banquet Thursday evening in the high school cafeteria and then joined guests for the annual alumni dance in the school gymnasium.

Earliest class represented was 1893 and the only member present for its 65th anniversary was Miss Margaret McMillan, Lincoln Square, who said she is one of three survivors of the class of 1913. The 50th anniversary class of 1908 had 10 of its original 24 members in attendance.

Presentation of alumni and memorial awards, a yearly feature of the annual banquet program, was made by Jay R. Schmitt, class of 1931, a former president of the association and chairman of the awards committee.

Top Honor To Boys
The valedictorian with the highest scholastic award for the last four years is Keith MacKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. MacKenzie, Highland Ave., and the second prize went to Ronald Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hess, Orrtanna R. 1. Schmitt said it was the first time in years that both winners of the scholastic awards have been boys. More often the awards have gone to girls.

The Ruth A. Spangler Romance Language Memorial award was presented to MacKenzie, who a few minutes earlier had been called to the speaker's table to present a copy of this year's high school yearbook to the Alumni Association. MacKenzie was its editor-in-chief.

The J. Guy Wolf Memorial awards in the commercial department were presented as follows: Bookkeeping, first prize, Robert Brewer, son of Samuel D. Brewer, Gettysburg R. 2, and first prize in the secretarial division went to Mary Jane Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schwartz, Littlestown R. 1. Second prize in each division was won by Mary Ellen Martz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martz of Cashman.

Folkloreth Presides
Presiding over the banquet program was Richard A. Folkloreth, president of the Alumni Association. The program opened with the singing of "The Lord's Prayer" by Rodney A. Felix, Lock Haven, member of the class of 1953 here for his fifth class reunion. He was accompanied by Mrs. Edna Zinkand Hartzell, class of 1917.

President Folkloreth welcomed the approximately 50 members of the graduating class attending the banquet and their president, Joel Reaser, responded for his classmates. Treasurer John C. Traffic deaths in the first hours of the three-day Memorial Day appeared running below normal today. But safety experts held to their preholiday estimate that 350 persons will be killed in highway accidents during the extended weekend.

The National Safety Council, which estimated the death toll, also predicted more than 40 million cars will be on the highways during the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday to midnight Sunday.

Last year the Memorial Day holiday period covered four days and the 413 traffic deaths was a record high for the Decoration Day observance. The over-all all-accident death total of 660 also was a record for a four-day Memorial Day period. It included 134 drownings and 113 fatalities in miscellaneous accidents.

The highest traffic toll for a three-day Memorial Day period was 369 in 1955.

Vice President's Tribute

The Vice President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon, has not forgotten the supreme sacrifice his great-grandfather, George Nixon, made in the Battle of Gettysburg 95 years ago.

Several days ago Mr. Nixon requested, through The Gettysburg Times, that on Memorial Day a spray of flowers be placed on the grave of his ancestor, in the Gettysburg National Cemetery because he would be unable to come here himself.

His request was granted Thursday afternoon when Little Miss Joy Elaine Fazenbaker (above), four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Fazenbaker, 34 North Stratton St., placed a large spray of red carnations on the headstone of the Civil War soldier's grave. It was the lone spray in the midst of hundreds of little American flags that mark the burial place of more than three thousand known and unknown soldier dead of the three-day struggle here.

Mr. Nixon served with Company B, 73rd Regiment, Ohio volunteers.

SPENCE HEADS SR. EXTENSION

William Lehman, York Springs, was appointed vice president of the Adams County Senior Extension Club Thursday evening at a meeting held in the social room of the Ardenville National Bank. He succeeds Larry Crouse, Gettysburg R. 4, who resigned upon enlistment in the Navy.

President Spence named as his committees: Song leader, Nadine Reinecker; devotions, Teresa Murren; sports, David Sibert; recreation, Jean and Harry Behney; refreshments, Sarah Bretzman, Dorothy Wetzel and Harry Peters; displays at fairs, Carl Kessel, Shirley Kessel, Sandra Redding; Fourth of July float, David Sibert, Frank Coffelt, Terry Crouse, Dorothy Anthony, Janet and Paul Bretzman; Public address system, Cecil Kulise, Carl Carey; auditors, Carson Lamberson, Richard Weaver and Paul Kuhn; chicken barbecue, George Stock, George Noel, Eugene Reynolds, Donald Bean, George Carey, Sara and Ruth Bretzman.

Dorothy Anthony will represent the group at Camp Kanastota June 10 to 14, it was announced. Plans were made for the group to present a square dance Saturday evening at the Gettysburg Veterans of Foreign Wars. Associate County Agent Fred H. Attinger expressed his appreciation to the club for its support given him during his stay here.

Preliminary plans were outlined for a fall "campout" to be held at Camp Tuckahoe in September for members of the Adams County Senior Extension and similar organizations in other nearby counties.

Today, in almost every village, town and city in the United States, and in American cemeteries overseas, tens of thousands of Americans and folks of other nationalities pay tribute to the memory of the thousands of men and women who gave their lives that this nation might survive. It is an annual custom, a great tradition, part of the fine American heritage that these Americans shall live in memory throughout the years.

The American flag will grace the graves of the known and unknown soldier dead. Bands will play martial airs and dirges. School children and adults will strew flowers in many cemeteries and there will be millions of tear-stained eyes.

There is something sacred about Memorial Day. It originated with the Grand Army of the Republic to pay homage to those who lost their lives in the Civil War. But its meaning and significance has spread to embrace the memory of all those who made the supreme sacrifice beginning with the birth of this great nation.

The sacredness of the day becomes more meaningful with each year. There are few who do not pause at least for a moment on this day to reflect on its true significance. It is so very little we do in memory of those who can give no more.

SILVER SPRING PASTOR SPEAKS TO SEMINARIANS

"Truth is old. What you will tell the world, then, is old. What is new is you," Rev. E. Raymond Shaheen, pastor of the St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Silver Spring, Md., told 41 members of the graduating class of Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary Thursday night as the school closed its 132nd year with graduation exercises in the Church of the Abiding Presence.

Rev. Mr. Shaheen, a son of Lebanese parents, and a graduate of the Gettysburg seminary in 1937, told the graduates: "You are a challenge to make a personal contribution in partnership with Jesus Christ. And your contribution is personal, do not doubt it. There are many things that will never be done if you do not do them. What will you do with Christ as a partner? Only as you lend a willing arm can many things be done, for there are some things Christ will not do except He find you willing."

"We can picture that last moment in the carpenter shop, when Christ was about to begin His ministry. What thoughts must have entered His mind as He gazed for the last time about the shop where He had worked beside Joseph? What were His thoughts as He held for the last time the saw, the hammer, the tools of His trade, and He looked upon those last things He had made, and as He looked about the home where He had spent His life till now? What were the thoughts of Joseph as he looked upon this (Continued On Page 3)

Portion Of Text Of Memorial Day Address By Roderick

The following is a portion of the text of the Memorial Day address by Assistant Secretary of the Army George H. Roderick in the Gettysburg National Cemetery this afternoon:

You have signally honored me in asking me to speak here today. The privilege of participating in exercises on this historic ground is one to be appreciated by any citizen of this great nation of ours. Probably no name in American history combines for all Americans, as does Gettysburg, the elements of both triumph and tragedy. Together Americans fought and died here, and together they were victorious. Could anyone distinguish between the Blue and the Gray at San Juan Hill, in the Meuse Argonne, or on the beaches at Normandy, or at Inchon?

Sometimes it appears that the course of American history runs directly through Gettysburg. It seems perfectly natural that this locale should have become the home of our own great Soldier-

"An all-out nuclear war . . . could only be the result of insanity — a sort of madness sweeping the world. Nevertheless, we must recognize that force is the only deterrent to unlimited ambition and expansion. We must maintain this deterrent at all costs," Assistant Secretary of the Army George H. Roderick said this afternoon as the principal speaker at the 91st annual Memorial Day exercises in the Gettysburg National Cemetery.

"But we cannot expect that we will be able to deter all war with a strategic deterrent alone. We must be able to assist and support our Allies in limited war should the need arise, without destroying them, or bringing destruction down upon ourselves. We can do this only if we have the means to gain our objective without bringing on total war. The ability to fight and win limited war is a vital element of our ability to deter war."

War Pattern Unpredictable
Secretary Roderick opened his address by telling of the start of the battle of Gettysburg. "Surely military history, as the Gettysburg campaign itself demonstrates, teaches us that the pattern of war is unpredictable. We must preserve our freedom of choice," he said.

He urged adoption of the President's plan for reorganization of the Department of Defense saying that "we review continuously our methods of control."

Speaking of modern development in rocketry, he said that the Army Jupiter Missile Nose Cone which made the first flight into space and return carried letters which were "delivered to the Secretary of the Army last week."

School Children Parade
Approximately 1,000 school children, carrying American flags and flowers headed the procession that moved through the town to the Cemetery at 2 o'clock this afternoon. A highlight of the cemetery service was the strewing of flowers on the more than 3,000 graves of Civil War dead.

And as in 1868, when the First Memorial Day service was held here, two local military units honored deceased comrades by participating in the exercises. Then it was the Gettysburg and Franklin Zouaves. Today the units were the Howitzer Co., 2nd Battalion, 104th Armored Cavalry, of the National Guard, led by 1st Lt. Donald E. Doersom and Company A, 313th Infantry Regiment, 79th Division, U. S. Army Reserves, led by 1st Lt. Robert W. Black.

Guest Officers
With the local Reserve company was the honor guard of the 79th Division.

Guests at the exercises were General J. Calvin "Haps" Frank, commanding general of the 79th Division; Colonel LeRoy V. Green and Lt. Col. Harry Ulrich of the division staff.

The officers joined the committee, speaker and others in a reviewing stand of cars in the southwest segment of Lincoln Square.

Parade At 2 O'clock

The parade formed at 1:30 o'clock on Springs Ave. at Meade School. It moved at 2 o'clock with a police escort heading the first division. Chief Marshal LeRoy H. Winebrenner followed, with Aides Arthur W. Warman, Charles Jacobs, Stephen Jacobs, John D. Teeter and John L. Cauffman all mounted.

BOY'S DREAM OF BASEBALL IS SWITCHED

CHICAGO (AP)—A small town boy's dream of becoming a big league baseball player were broken by the busy, shrill whistle of a traffic cop.

Blond crew-cut Tommy Krause changed his mind after watching Policeman Carl Willis direct traffic at a busy South Side intersection Thursday.

Tommy, 9, spent part of his life savings ($20) for a train ride from Battle Creek, Mich., to Chicago—without his parents' knowledge—to see the Cubs play ball.

Phone Parents
He carried his bat when he got off the train at a South Side station. He noticed several other passengers alight, so he didn't wait for the train to arrive at the downtown station.

He wandered along 63rd street until he arrived at the intersection where Willis was directing traffic. Willis noticed the boy with the baseball bat, questioned him and took him to Woodlawn police station. Police telephoned Tommy's parents.

Police told Tommy the Cubs had no game scheduled but they would take him to a Little League ball game while his parents were driving to Chicago for him.

Whisked Home
"Oh, that's all right," Tommy said. "I'm not going to be a ball-player any more. I'm going to be a traffic cop."

Tom's father Eugene and his mother Mildred greeted their son at the station Thursday night. They said he had never run away before, and Tommy promised he never would again. His parents whisked him right back to Battle Creek—140 miles away from big league baseball and snarling traffic.

SAC SPEEDUP BEING PLANNED

FORT WORTH (AP)—Strategic Air Command is taking new steps to insure that Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles may be fired instantly upon an attack warning, without long preliminary countdowns and delays that have marked test launchings at Cape Canaveral.

This was reported to the Aviation Writers Assn. at Carswell Air Force Base, a major SAC installation near here, by Maj. Gen. Charles B. Westover, SAC's director of plans, without indications how it will be done.

Westover said SAC was planning to build "protective facilities to increase survivability," and indicated these will be launching sites that are buried or submerged or out of reach of enemy.

He added that the missile force will be "sufficiently large and adequately equipped so that when measured against Soviet surprise attack, its retaliation will insure sufficient destruction of the Soviet bloc to preclude his decision to launch."

Westover said that initially, when there are relatively few operational Atlas missiles and they have not yet reached the required degree of accuracy, they will be used as needed against enemy defenses. In this way they'll help "insure that our other more accurate weapon systems can reach their assigned targets." Presumably he referred to weapons such as B25 bombers.

TWO STUDENTS KILLED IN CRASH

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP)—A sports car veered across the median strip on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Thursday night and collided with an auto and a tractor-trailer, killing two Carnegie Tech students.

The fatalities were the first to occur on the turnpike on a Memorial Day holiday period since 1955. Both victims were riding in the sports car.

The dead were identified as David Roland, 25, of Ames, Iowa, and Fred Schupp, 28, of Marshall, Mo. Both were thrown from the small car.

Thurman E. Gelwicks, 35, of Fayetteville, Pa., driver of the tractor-trailer, and Mr. and Mrs. James Orville Gibson of Akron, Ohio, riding in the second car, escaped injury.

State police said the sports car was heading west when it crossed the median strip, collided with the eastbound Gibson car and then crashed into the tractor-trailer, which dragged it for 100 feet.

The tractor-trailer rolled over an embankment and settled on top of the sports car. Two students were thrown free of the car before it was crushed by the heavier vehicle.

SPENDS 2 DAYS IN SPACE SHIP

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Staff Sgt. Marion Aydt has completed two days in the simulated space ship in which Airman Donald Farrell spent his well-publicized week.

Aydt, 28, says of his experience: "The first few hours were okay, but after that it was a mild taste of hell."

The sergeant, son of Mrs. Verla McMillan of Kansas City, Mo., was sealed in the experimental capsule at the School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Air Force Base, from noon May 20 until noon May 22.

Farrell wore ordinary clothing. Aydt was testing a partial pressure suit, hot and uncomfortable.

Belgian Audience Cool To Goodman

BRUSSELS (AP)—The audience was cool Thursday night when Benny Goodman went classical at the World's Fair. And we don't mean cool, man, cool.

In a program at the American pavilion, Goodman soloed with the Belgian Radio Chamber Orchestra in Mozart's clarinet concerto. A local critic said "his performance did not match some of his classical music recordings."

Goodman and his orchestra are playing for a week at the fair.

AUTO CONTRACT EXPIRES TODAY; REJECT OFFER

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors' contract with the United Auto Workers expired today as the company rejected a last-minute bid by the UAW to work out a temporary agreement covering 300,000 GM workers.

The UAW then centered its attention on Ford and Chrysler in hopes of working out new agreements with both companies before current three-year contracts run out Sunday midnight.

GM, like Ford and Chrysler, stood steadfast through weeks of negotiations in its offer to extend the current agreement for two years.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen he was "disappointed but not bitter" over failure to agree on a new GM contract.

Reuther Is Unhappy
Reuther, weary after a last-minute bargaining session that ran all day and up to the midnight expiration time, obviously was unhappy as he disclosed that for the first time in 21 years UAW members at GM would have to work without a union contract.

In previous years when contracts between UAW and the automotive Big Three ran out, the pacts were extended on a week-to-week basis until new agreements were concluded. This time, GM charged the union with bad faith in bargaining and declined a temporary extension despite union requests.

Both the union and the company have issued instructions on how to operate without a contract.

The terms were set Wednesday by GM. They expired Thursday night—except the company will quit collecting members' dues for the union and UAW membership will not be a condition of employment at GM.

The union said it planned to put men on GM plant gates to check membership cards of employees in an effort to maintain an all-union shop.

Reuther admittedly faced an uphill fight to achieve his goals for auto workers in this recession year. He wants wage increases, improved pension benefits and a share of profits from firms financially able to pay them.

TWO UNKNOWN SOLDIERS ARE BURIED TODAY

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid highest honors, two unknown Americans who fell in World War II and Korea go to their final rest today beside the nameless soldier who died three wars ago.

From the Capital rotunda where they have lain in state, a great cortege bears them across the city and over the Potomac River to the white marble amphitheater in Arlington National Cemetery.

During the afternoon they will receive the nation's grateful homage before the identical bronze caskets are lowered into twin crypts flanking the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

President Eisenhower will place upon each casket the Medal of Honor with the simple word "valor" on a bar above a star. There is no higher United States military award.

"Selflessness of Heroes"
The phrasing of the citation for the medals, like the simple dignity of the single word on the medal, was brief.

One said that the unknown American exemplified "the selflessness of all our fallen heroes of the second World War who, in courageous defense of the ideals of democracy against aggression, gave their lives to preserve our noble heritage."

The other cited a man "symbolic of the gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty of all members of the armed forces of the United States who gave their lives in the Korean conflict while defending the ideals of freedom and democracy."

Because the religions, like the identity of these two men, were unknown, the clergy of several faiths were joined in the ritual.

On the high stage of the apse atop the side of the amphitheater's columned circle have rested the caskets of many famous fighting men.

WILL NOT RAKE CITY'S LEAVES

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A leaf can be many things. To Eve, it was a new dress—the world's first.

To Percy J. Powell it was a needle, aimed at the seat of the city government.

Powell wrote the City Council to the effect that since the city owns the trees planted down the sides of the streets, it must also own the leaves from the trees.

He added a suggestion that "one of your honorable body might need to rid himself of a few unnecessary pounds" and would like to rake some leaves himself.

That did it. The fat was in the fire.

Councilman Gerald Desmond protested that he and his colleagues were already underpaid and had no intention of adding manual labor to their duties.

Councilman Charles Garrison reached way back into English hunting law to point out that ownership lies where the stag falls, not where it was shot.

At last report no action had been taken and the leaf had completed another metamorphosis: from leaf, to dress, to needle—to hot potato.

COUPLE NEAR NEW MILESTONE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles and Patricia Frye reach a milestone next week in a teen-age success story.

Despite parental misgivings they were married 4½ years ago when Patricia was 17 and Charles was a 16-year-old high school senior at Nashville, Tenn.

Tuesday they will graduate from St. Louis University, Charles summa cum laude and his wife also with a high scholastic rating.

Charles, who has a full four-year scholarship, and his wife have paid their own way except for her tuition the first semester. In their spare time he worked as a radio announcer and recreation director, she as a secretary.

Charles has been granted a fellowship at Yale, where he plans to work toward a Ph.D. in international relations. If Patricia can't find a job teaching history, she'll work toward a master's degree.

The key to whether De Gaulle would receive power legally or in a military coup was in the hands of the Socialist party, which fears the 67-year-old World War II leader as a potential dictator.

So far the Socialists had refused to vote power to De Gaulle. But their all-out opposition seemed to be weakening under the heavy pressure.

The 97 Socialist deputies who hold the balance in Parliament planned to meet today to review their position. But the party's official newspapers said the Socialists would not vote to install De Gaulle.

CONVICTED OF DODGING TAXES ON $100,000

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul (The Walter) Ricca, who took over as one of the leaders of the old Capone crime syndicate when Scarface Al went to prison, was convicted Thursday of evading nearly $100,000 in income taxes.

The 60-year-old ex-convict may be sent to prison as long as 15 years and fined $30,000 on the income tax evasion verdict. A jury in U. S. District Court deliberated more than 16 hours before returning its verdict.

Ricca served four years in federal prison when he and other leading Chicago hoodlums were convicted in the million-dollar labor extortion of the Hollywood movie industry. He was paroled in 1947.

The government accused him of holding back taxes in 1948, 1949 and 1950. The government said the money came from syndicate operations Ricca then controlled.

Ricca's attorneys said his lavish spending in 1948-1950 came from $300,000 he had hidden in the attic of his suburban River Forest home.

DIES IN CRASH WITH MOM'S CAR

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Graduation and marriage awaited Dianne Montgomery as she drove to Byrd High School Thursday. A few hours later she was dead of injuries suffered when her car collided with an automobile driven by her mother.

State police said the cars were traveling about 50 miles an hour when they collided. Mrs. L. E. Montgomery, Dianne's mother, said she saw her daughter's car approaching in the wrong lane but she thought the girl was teasing her and would move back to her proper lane.

The 18-year-old girl was driving a car owned by her fiancé Jerry Monroe. They had planned to marry in the near future.

Mrs. Montgomery suffered lacerations and was placed under observation at a hospital.

Both automobiles were badly damaged. State police said skid marks showed Mrs. Montgomery applied her brakes 15 feet from the point of impact.

on the Civil War, and more are being published all the time. In the Book Review Section of the Washington Post two weeks ago there were listed seven recently published books on the Civil War. Of these, two in their entirety were about the Battle of Gettysburg.

Yet, in the light of world affairs the striking fact for Americans, it seems to me, is that there was a battle here at Gettysburg. Before discussing that point though, I want to outline briefly some of my present responsibilities. In that way, you will be in a better position to evaluate my remarks.

As assistant secretary of the Army for Financial Management I act for, and am responsible to the secretary of the Army for monetary matters. As you would expect, this involves the planning for and the requesting of money, as well as monitoring how it is spent. Another large area of interest, however, is not apparent from the title of my office. That is the Army's interest in international security affairs. This involves the whole complex field of foreign relations affecting the mission of the Army.

"Classic Engagement"

It includes, among other things, negotiation for overseas bases, international organizations such as NATO and SEATO, intelligence activities, and Civil Affairs—Military Government. We are also involved in the operation of the Panama Canal, which broadly viewed is a financial management operation in the area of ever increasing importance to the United States.

These broad Army interests in international security affairs provide the springboard for my remarks today.

From a purely military viewpoint the battle here at Gettysburg was a classic meeting engagement. Neither Meade nor Lee had intended to fight at Gettysburg.

On the morning of July 1 Helm's Division of A. P. Hill's Corps, advancing east along the Chambersburg Pike, was blocked by Buford's Union Cavalry. As you know, Buford had deployed his cavalry west of town, along Willoughby Run. A sharp fire fight developed. Reynolds' first Union Corps began to arrive and deploy. A cry went up along the ranks of Archer's Confederate brigade as they sighted the "black hats" of the Iron Brigade. "Taint no militia! It's the Army of the Potomac!" The battle was joined and neither side was free to withdraw from the issue—or, to postpone it.

"A Swirling Vortex"

Suddenly, in the rush of events, this seemingly local engagement had been transformed into a swirling vortex into which elements of both armies were being drawn with breakneck speed.

There is ample evidence that both commanders would have preferred to have fought defensively. Meade moving his army north along a front from Emmitsburg to Hanover was prepared to defend south of that line, perhaps along Pipe Creek. Lee, concentrating his army east of the mountains between Cashtown and Gettysburg where he could threaten Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia, hoped to force the Union Army to attack him there.

And yet, here on the morning of the first of July, both armies were pushing forward at full speed, plunging pell-mell into an engagement which was to decide ultimately the outcome of the war.

Militarily, the problem of concentrating was greater for the Union Army. Its elements were more widely separated. In that sense, it was the arrival of the Army of the Potomac that fixed the location of the battle here at Gettysburg. The fate of the Union was dependent upon the speed with which the Union Army could concentrate in front of the invader.

On the other hand, the logic of the strategic situation forced Lee to continue to throw in all of his forces in seeking victory. It was this logic that had brought about his invasion of the North. It was this logic that justified the assault which carried Pickett's men to the "highwater mark" of the Confederacy.

Beat Union Twice

Early in June, Lee had begun his movement to the north. In December and again in May he had defeated the Army of the Potomac, decisively at Fredericksburg, and at Chancellorsville. On the other hand, Grants drive in the west on Vicksburg was moving ahead. Both the political and military situations called for a major effort by the Confederacy to win the war. There seemed to be no alternative to an invasion of the North.

The defeat of Lee's army here at Gettysburg did not end the war. But it ended the military threat to the North. Two long years of war remained before the principle of secession was finally discredited. As Lincoln had seen so clearly in 1861, the use of force alone could not guarantee the success of the great American experiment. "We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may be strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory, stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union, when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature."

Union Was Preserved

On the other hand, as he pointed out in 1865, there had been no alternative to the use of armed force so long as both sides persisted—each in its own cause. "Both parties deprecated war; but one of them would make war rather than let the nation survive, and the other would accept war rather than let it perish. And the war came."

And the war brought with it its own dialogue—a dialogue that dominated the scene, and man became only an actor speaking his lines, playing out his role.

Lee found himself invading the North as determinedly as he had previously defended against invasion. But the Army of the Potomac was at Gettysburg. The Union was preserved; its wounds were bound up.

Successive generations of Americans have fought and died in defense of this great nation and today, in cemeteries throughout this and foreign lands, we are gathered together paying tribute to them. We are resolved that they shall not have died in vain.

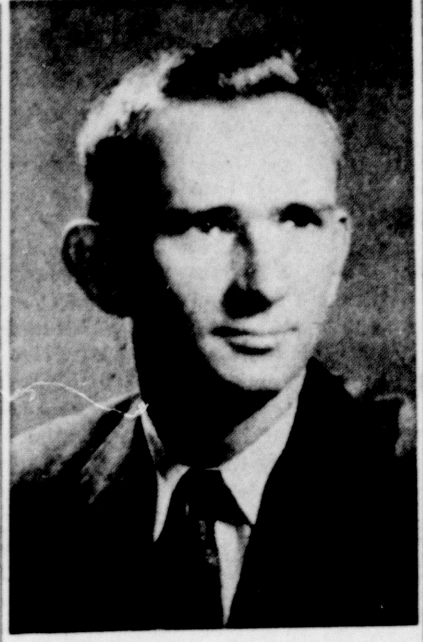

It is "fitting and proper" that we should do this. For America today faces as grave a threat as she has ever faced. We are bent on neutralizing the threat of communism as we preserve the strength of the Free World.

With respect to communism there can be no compromise. The aim of communism is world domination. The very existence of the free world as we know it is at stake. The threat which we face is multiple and complex, direct and indirect.

Deterrent To Nuclear War

To counter this threat our first requirement is the maintenance of a strategic deterrent to nuclear war. Buy this I mean that should our nation be attacked by surprise we must be capable of striking back at the homeland of the enemy. And if such an exchange of nuclear weapons should occur, we must be better able to continue the war than our enemy.

Advances in nuclear weapons and guided missiles have convinced most people that an all-out nuclear war would all but destroy civilization. Such a war could only be the result of insanity—a sort of madness sweeping over the world. Nevertheless, we must recognize that force is the only deterrent to unlimited ambition and expansion. We must maintain this deterrent at all costs. But we cannot expect that we will be able to deter all with a strategic deterrent alone. We must be able to assist and support our allies in limited war should the need arise, without destroying them, or bringing destruction down upon ourselves. Every effort must be made to limit wars if they break out. We can do this only if we have the means to gain our objective without bringing on total war. The ability to fight and win limited war is a vital element of our ability to deter war.

Crises in Greece, Israel, Korea, Indochina, Cyprus, Suez, and now in Algeria and Lebanon, have occurred—all under the umbrella of strategic deterrence. Anyone of these could have set off global war. The military forces of the United States and her allies must continue to be organized to meet any type threat. Surely, military history—as the Gettysburg campaign itself demonstrates—teaches us that the pattern of war is unpredictable. We must preserve our freedom of choice.

The active Army of the United States today consists of about 900,000 men, organized around 15 pentomic divisions. Each of these divisions is designed to survive and win on the atomic battlefield while retaining the ability to conduct conventional warfare.

These divisions are backed up by equally modern and mobile combat support units having the same flexible characteristics. Army National Guard and Reserve units give depth to the active Army organization.

As a world-wide deterrent to limited war, the Army is engaged in three major tasks. The first of these is to maintain forces deployed overseas. Their job is to support our allies and to be prepared to intervene quickly in the event of local hostilities.

Combat-Ready Forces

The second major task of the Army is to maintain mobile combat-ready strategic forces in the Continental United States. Their job is to move quickly to trouble spots anywhere in the world. In this way, they provide back-up for our armed forces deployed overseas, and for the forces of our allies.

Martinez, Akins In Shape For Bout

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Vince Martinez and Virgil Akins, both reported in top condition after rugged workouts, will try to maintain their fighting edge now for their welterweight championship fight next Friday night.

Each fighter worked six rounds Thursday with sparring mates instructed to go all-out against them. Martinez, of Patterson, N. J., takes a day off today. Eddie Yawitz, manager of Akins, said the St. Louis fighter "looks exceptionally sharp."

The title fight will be for the championship vacated by Carmen Basilio.

The four top ranking states in agriculture are Texas, Iowa, California and Illinois.

that arranged Thursday's events were introduced.

"Old Grads" Introduced

Other introductions included Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe, former superintendent of schools here and honorary member of the Alumni Association; Dr. R. D. Wickerham, president of the Gettysburg joint school board, and Superintendent H. Edgar Riegler.

Among the "old grads" specially presented by President Folkenroth, most of them seated at the speakers' table, included: Mrs. Sara Doll, 1902; Mrs. Albert Rogers, '99; Mrs. Jessie Easterday, '99; Mrs. Isabelle Griffith, '97; Miss Williams, '96; Fred G. Troxell, '04; Miss McMillan, 1892, and Mrs. William Slentz, 1898.

Oldest reunion class was 1903 which had eight of its 11 surviving members present. There were 22 at graduation. Clair Sweeney of Gettysburg was the spokesman and introduced these classmates: Bessie M. Widder, Frank Shriver, Lula Menchey Ohler, Nellie Culp Romberger, Ella Oyerler Stock, Grace Sachs, at whose home the class gathered later in the evening for a reunion party; Edna Miller Cooper and Nellie Culp Romberger.

Golden Anniversary Class

The 50th reunion class of 1908 had 10 of its 19 living members present with C. C. Culp as spokesman. He said there were 24 at graduation in Brua Chapel 50 years ago and counted 60 children and 124 grandchildren, one of them, Sylvia Wieder, a member of the graduating class.

The members on hand for their 10th reunion were introduced by Mr. Culp: Mrs. Hattie Hennig Eilers, Amy Sheads Ridinger, Miss Mary L. Rowe, Ethel Weaver Dickett, Elsie Yeagy Welly, Janet Marshall Jeffreys, Charity Knouse Donnelly, C. A. Cluck and Robert M. Currens.

Other Anniversary Classes

Other classes holding reunions were called upon as follows: 1913, Arthur E. Hutchison was spokesman for the seven present out of the original 19.

1918, Mrs. Gladys Raymond Kelley was spokesman for the nine members present from the 26 survivors of the class of 33.

1923, David Oyerler, spokesman, with 14 members of the class present.

1928, J. M. Sheads spoke for the 18 members of the class of 98.

1933, Kenneth P. Hull spoke for the 37 members present for the 25th reunion and introduced three of the teachers who had accompanied the class on its Washington trip at graduation. Mrs. Ruth Wisler, Miss Ruth McIlhenny and Robert D. Fidler. The class tied with the class of 1948 as the largest delegation in attendance.

37 There For 10th Reunion

1938, Paul Fox, spokesman, with 23 present.

1943, Attorney Donald G. Oyerler spoke for the 15th reunion class and presented a statistical booklet on the class prepared after a survey conducted by two of its members and printed by Arthur Weaver. 1948, Richard Waybright, spokesman for the 37 present, said the class of 126 has to date produced 126 children.

1953, Suzanne Ziegler, spokesman, said 22 were present of the class that numbered 134.

Dance Follows In Gym

More than 20 members of last year's graduating class were introduced and President Folkenroth said only three classes graduated in the last 45 years were not represented. They were 1924, 1946 and 1954.

Leo McClain, class of 1909, of Fort Washington was introduced. The 50th anniversary class gathered afterwards at the REA building for a reunion party with several additional members reporting for that affair.

A roast beef dinner was served cafeteria style by the high school cafeteria staff.

After the banquet program, the annual dance was held in the gymnasium with Dance Chairman J. Herbert Raymond leading the opening grand march. Roy Gibbons' orchestra provided the music.

There two unknown soldiers of the recent world war will join another veteran in eternal rest at the first tomb of the Unknown Soldier . . . and there for many years, so long as this nation lives, an honor guard of veterans will keep vigil every hour of every day as permanent homage to their memory.

children from the public and parochial schools and the Gettysburg High School Senior and Junior bands and the Biglerville High School band made up the first division.

The second division was headed by Aides Atty. Charles W. Wolf, Atty. Donald G. Oyerler, Samuel B. Miller and Harold Bucher, also on horseback. The Blue and Gray Band of Gettysburg preceded the local National Guard unit, the 79th Division Honor Guard, and the local Army Reserve company.

Next in line was the Lower Adams County Community Band of Hunt-erstown; Spanish American War Veterans in autos; Post 15, VFW; Hanover American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, Albert J. Lentz and Dorsey-Stanto posts of the American Legion, Boy Scouts, the Fair-Field High School Band, Girl Scouts, Sons of Union Veterans from Camp 112 of Gettysburg, the speaker, guests and committee.

Conduct Ritual

At the cemetery ritual services were conducted and flowers were strewn on the graves. National Guardsmen patrolled the area as an honor guard. William G. Weaver was master of ceremonies. Taking part in the ritual, changed slightly this year to honor the unknown dead buried near the unknown soldier at Arlington, were Chester S. Shriver, of the Sons of Union Veterans; Lawrence M. Sheads, of the American Legion; John Murray, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Raymond Strohm, a son of a Spanish War Veteran.

While the Gettysburg High School band played "Safe In the Arms of Jesus," the school children strewn flowers on the graves. Approximately 1,600 unknown dead are buried in the National Cemetery.

Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and others placed flowers on the graves of approximately 700 Spanish-American, World War I, World War II and Korean War graves.

Guard Fires Volley

The firing of a volley by the Honor Guard of the Albert J. Lentz American Legion post and taps by Michael Tate of the same post concluded that that portion of the program.

Weaver spoke of the first Memorial Day service held May 30, 1868, and added, "One portion of the original program has been missing for years. On May 30, 1868 the Zouavets used Confederate cannon, recovered after the battle, to fire a salute of 22 shots, one for each section of graves in the cemetery."

He also recalled the strewing of flowers by the Soldiers Orphan Home children 90 years ago at the first service and recited the poem the orphans chanted as they placed their flowers.

Atty. Donald P. MacPherson Jr., member of the U. S. Interstate Commission, was master of ceremonies for the rostrum exercises. The Gettysburg High School band played "America" after which Rev. J. Harold Mowen, vicar of the Prince of Peace Episcopal church, gave the invocation.

H. Edgar Riegler, superintendent of the Gettysburg public schools, read Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address."

Congressman S. Walter Stauffer introduced the speaker, Assistant Secretary of the Army Rodrick. Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, gave the benediction. The Blue and Gray Band closed the exercises with the "Star Spangled Banner."

SILVER SPRING

Son, whom he had taught to be a carpenter, now about to leave upon a ministry? Perhaps the thoughts were much as yours tonight.

God's Latest Reinforcement

"Jesus Christ is God's answer to the problem that has always perplexed God. That is the problem of getting people to believe. The Bible shows revelation after revelation and still the people did not believe. And thus Christ had to turn His back on the carpenter shop to be God's answer to the problem of how to get people to believe."

"You, too, have the problem of how to get people to believe and the abiding question that will be always before you is what will you do? You are God's latest reinforcements in the battle against the enemy. And you will find yourself at the altar for one reason only, to tell what you know of Jesus Christ."

"You cannot give what someone else has to offer, only what you, yourself, have to offer. And so the hosts of heaven can well ask of each of you, 'What will he do?' And the awesome fact remains that the question, as it relates to each of you will be answered. We, the whole world, will see what you will do. We all will know."

Dr. Harry F. Baughman, president of the seminary, conferred the master of Sacred Theology degree upon Rev. Theron McClure Snyder, Lewistown; and master of arts degrees on Galen Alvin Collesser, Huntington, Ind.; Molly Kerstetter, State College, and Barbara Jane Winey, Harrisburg.

He then conferred the Bachelor of Divinity degree upon the 41 graduates. In a brief talk he told them: "You will have ever before you a temptation — not openly, but subtly, a temptation to preach yourself rather than Christ. Remember always, pray always, that your preaching will be of Christ and not yourself."

The students were presented for their degree by Dr. Ralph D. Heim, secretary of the faculty.

Approximately 500 filled to overflowing the seminary church. The Seminary Choir sang the responses and anthems for the program.

SUB SINKS OFF OAHU ISLAND

HONOLULU (AP) — The submarine Slickback sank Thursday night off Oahu Island 5½ hours after being rammed by the destroyer escort Silverstein during antisubmarine exercises. No one was injured.

The Slickback was submerged when the collision occurred but immediately surfaced and tied up alongside the Silverstein while her crew of 74 men and eight officers escaped, the Navy said.

Despite intensive salvage efforts the submarine flooded and sank in 1,500 fathoms 19 miles southwest of the channel entrance to Pearl Harbor.

The Silverstein reported a damaged bow but said she did not need assistance.

A Navy crash boat returned 38 of the Slickback's crew to Pearl Harbor. Lt. Cmdr. Q. R. Schulz, the ship's skipper, and the other 43 headed back aboard the submarine rescue vessel Greenlet.

MARCUS AURELIUS
One of the most famous of all books is that one by the good Emperor Marcus Aurelius. For many years this book, which took the name of the "Thoughts" of Marcus Aurelius, was lost to the world, but fortunately it was newly discovered and first edited in 1558. Renan called this book "the most human of all books." It excels in sincerity and genuineness. Of all the early philosophers, Marcus Aurelius stands apart. His book has been said to be the "truest kind of autobiography." It was not written with the idea of ever being published, however. It is made up of the inner thoughts of a very great and good man, one who believed in peace and in development of the inner qualities of the soul. It has been said that these "Thoughts" of Marcus Aurelius "are among the surprises of literature." Certainly to read these spiritual reminders of a great life is to drink into the soul refreshment of spirit, and a way of life that impressed itself upon the great of his day, as well as the humblest under his charge. At his death there was deep and silent sorrow that spread all over the Roman Empire. For years I have kept a small copy of this inspiring book upon my library desk so as to have it handy for meditation and stimulated thought.

Marcus Aurelius wrote this diary of thought for — himself. Largely, for self-discipline. He was not a borrower from others unless he could gladly make a return, and he gave what could not easily be returned — himself!

MEMORIAL DAY
You who have died for the flag.
You who have fought for it well,
You of whose valor we brag,
Heroes, whose glory we tell,
Is it enough to repay
You for the blood that you shed,
That on your green graves today
Banners and roses we spread?
Could we not honor you more,
Tell us, oh soldiers, long dead,
Living the principles for
Which your blood freely you shed?
Could we not better repay
You for the struggle you made
By sacredly guarding today
The standards you battled to save?

What is our duty to you?
Are we not bound to be strong?
Bound to be steadfast and true,
Brave in the presence of wrong?
Though we may come with our flowers,
Would you not rather have weeds
Than have your country and ours
Look to us vainly for deeds?

OIL COMPANY OFFICIALS SAY INDICTMENTS 'PREPOSTEROUS'

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Oil company officials say federal price-fixing conspiracy indictments against their firms are "preposterous . . . ridiculous . . . wholly unwarranted."

Denials came from most of the 29 oil firms indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury on a charge of conspiring to fix prices of crude oil and auto gasoline in a 43-state area. The one-count indictment, which named companies but no individuals, capped an investigation that began in March 1947.

Many of the nation's biggest oil companies were among the 29 charged with violating Section I of the Sherman antitrust law. Conviction could bring a maximum penalty of a $50,000 fine.

Prices Boosted
Crude oil prices were boosted generally by 35 cents a barrel in January 1957. Later, the retail price of gasoline was increased generally by 1 cent a gallon.

Several months earlier, Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal had caused an oil shortage in Western Europe. And shortly before the domestic price increases, then Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell authorized American oil firms to take cooperative action in supplying needed oil to Europe.

However, Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, head of the Justice Department's Antitrust Division, told a House committee this did not allow the companies to exchange information to make agreements on prices.

Charge Conspiracy
The indictment charged that, beginning in 1956 and continuing through January 1957, the defendant firms "engaged in an unlawful combination and conspiracy to raise, fix, and stabilize prices of crude oil throughout the affected market."

The affected market was described as all of the United States except California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Arizona.

The indictment said the companies' alleged action led to increased crude oil and gasoline prices throughout the affected market, suppression of competition among the defendant firms, and restraint of interstate trade.

DOUGLAS WILL LAUNCH GIANT JET AIRLINER

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Douglas Aircraft Co. prepared to realize a dream today and unloose its prize peacetime bird.

This is the day for the launching of the gigantic Douglas jet passenger airliner, a craft that can carry up to 176 passengers and cross the nation in just 4½ hours.

The company rates its top speed at 600 miles an hour. The company said it had poured 250 million dollars of private capital into development of the jetliner, the Douglas DC8.

For years the Douglas company had been making preliminary studies for a jet passenger airliner.

Just three years ago Donald W. Douglas, board chairman, issued the directive that converted the ideas into the beginning of a firm project.

Have Thirty-Eight Orders
Today the company has orders for 138 from 17 commercial airlines, ranging from 40 for United Airlines to one for Trans Caribbean Airways. Douglas said the 138 jetliners will have a value of some 700 million dollars.

The DC8 is the first big jetliner

Governor Reveals State Taking Steps To Make Pa. Turnpike Tollfree

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Leader disclosed today that the state is taking steps to make the Pennsylvania Turnpike system toll-free.

In a speech prepared for groundbreaking ceremonies for the first section of the Keystone Shortway, a cross-state, free highway which opponents claim will bring unfair competition to the toll superhighway to the south, Leader proposed: That the Northeast Extension of the Turnpike be placed on the federal interstate system.

That the federal government pay off 90 per cent of the obligations due the current bondholders of the Turnpike, with the state paying the remainder through the Pennsylvania Highway and Bridge Authority.

Should Be Toll Free
The entire Turnpike system, Leader declared, should be freed of tolls at the "earliest possible moment."

At the end of April the Commonwealth owed Turnpike bondholders 443 million dollars. The main east-west section of the Turnpike, from the Ohio State line south of Youngstown to the Delaware River just north of Philadelphia, already has been incorporated into the federal network. The federal government now pays 90 per cent of the cost of to emerge from the Southern California aircraft plants and the second such craft to be developed in the nation. The other is the Boeing 707, already being flown. The Douglas and Boeing planes are "pure" jets without propellers.

The big white jetliner, marked with red and blue stripes, has a tall that sticks in the air as high as a three-story building. From wingtip to wingtip it measures 139 feet 9 inches and it is 150 feet 6 inches in length. The first production DC8 is powered by four Pratt & Whitney turbojet engines.

While conceding the "legitimate complaint on the part of those people in areas still faced with the problem of paying tolls," Leader reiterated his belief that "the Keystone Shortway will bring untold benefits to this area and to the rest of the state."

To Open New Areas
The Shortway, he added, "will open new areas for industry and commerce, new recreational opportunities and new sites for homes."

He urged that sectional differences over highways be subordinated to the "need of building the best possible future for all Pennsylvania."

Leader has said in the past that the advent of the interstate program meant an end to toll highways.

In line with his announcement of plans to make the Turnpike system toll-free, Leader said he already has asked Secretary of Highways Lewis M. Stevens to prepare an application for submission to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, "recommending that the Northeast Extension be put on the interstate system."

May Take Legislation
The extension runs from a junction with the east-west main trunk of the Turnpike near Norristown to the Scranton area.

There was no indication in Leader's speech how long it might take to make the Turnpike a free road, should the federal government accept his proposal.

He raised the possibility that legislation might be necessary, but did not indicate whether it need be federal or state or both.

This first section of the Shortway, its eastern terminus, is to be known as the Stroudsburg Thoroughway. It will divert traffic around this Pocono resort center and its sister borough, East Stroudsburg.

Attempt To Pacify
The governor's announcement seemed an attempt to pacify the Shortway's opponents in Philadelphia and southeastern Pennsylvania, now served by the Turnpike. Philadelphia interests have expressed the fear that the Shortway will channel Midwest trade away from the port of Philadelphia to the port of New York.

The state claims that by the time the shortway is completed—present plans indicate that it will take 12 to 13 years—there will be enough traffic for both superhighways. Shortway supporters further contend that Philadelphia still will be more accessible to Midwest traffic using the Shortway than will New York.

While conceding the "legitimate complaint on the part of those people in areas still faced with the problem of paying tolls," Leader reiterated his belief that "the Keystone Shortway will bring untold benefits to this area and to the rest of the state."

To Open New Areas
The Shortway, he added, "will open new areas for industry and commerce, new recreational op-

By C. YATES McDANIEL
WASHINGTON (AP)—A serious and thorough officer, a stickler for detail, a hard taskmaster over himself as well as his subordinates—that is Adm. Harry D. Felt as his associates see him.

He is the officer picked by President Eisenhower this week to take over Aug. 1 as commander in chief of U. S. forces in the Pacific. He has been vice chief of naval operations for nearly two years.

Felt, 55, replaces Adm. Felix Stump.

Devoted To Career
Slight of build and medium in height, he has kept most of his chestnut brown hair. He uses glasses only for reading fine print and walks with a spring in his step.

Devoted to his career, he has no known outside hobbies except for a little fishing, preferably of the deep sea variety.

Felt was making his way in the

portunities and new sites for homes."

He urged that sectional differences over highways be subordinated to the "need of building the best possible future for all Pennsylvania."

Leader has said in the past that the advent of the interstate program meant an end to toll highways.

In line with his announcement of plans to make the Turnpike system toll-free, Leader said he already has asked Secretary of Highways Lewis M. Stevens to prepare an application for submission to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, "recommending that the Northeast Extension be put on the interstate system."

May Take Legislation
The extension runs from a junction with the east-west main trunk of the Turnpike near Norristown to the Scranton area.

There was no indication in Leader's speech how long it might take to make the Turnpike a free road, should the federal government accept his proposal.

He raised the possibility that legislation might be necessary, but did not indicate whether it need be federal or state or both.

This first section of the Shortway, its eastern terminus, is to be known as the Stroudsburg Thoroughway. It will divert traffic around this Pocono resort center and its sister borough, East Stroudsburg.

To Open New Areas
The Shortway, he added, "will open new areas for industry and commerce, new recreational opportunities and new sites for homes."

Gates Christens Newest Destroyer

BATH, Maine (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates said today that the United States fleet gives the government a "choice of action to cope with any situation."

Men and ships, he said, "give seapower the needed vitality to cement together the maritime confederacy which is basic to our foreign policy."

Gates' remarks were prepared for the christening of the Navy's newest destroyer, the Somers, named for Navy Lt. Richard Somers, who died a hero of the 1804 campaign against Tripoli in the Mediterranean.

Gates said that men like Somers man the fleet today and "give our Navy the power and the stamina to protect our national interests in places where we do not and cannot maintain bases."

Navy at about average speed until World War II broke out. An aviator, he got his chance early in the conflict as an air group commander. He was on board the old carrier Saratoga when that veteran of the seas took part in the first U. S. offensive action of the war in the Pacific, the Battle of Guadalcanal.

Before that bitter campaign was over, Lt. Cmdr. Felt had won the Navy Cross and a transfer back home to train combat pilots.

After a year in Moscow as a member of the wartime military mission to the Soviet Union, he commanded the small carrier Chenango in the Okinawa campaign.

Early in 1956, as a vice admiral, he was given his first major naval command, the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean. Only months later, he became a full admiral when he was appointed Sept. 1, 1956, to be vice chief of naval operations.

Felt was born in Topeka, Kan., June 21, 1902.

His wife is the former Kathryn Cowley, Mobile, Ala. Their son, Navy Lt. Donald Linn Felt, is a naval aviator and is now on duty in the Mediterranean.

AWAIT RULING ON SPECIAL '58 SESSION

HARRISBURG (AP) — A ruling is expected from the State Justice Department next week on whether a special session of the Legislature is needed to allow Pennsylvania to take advantage of federal bill to extend unemployment compensation loans.

The bill, awaiting President Eisenhower's signature, would mean an additional 15 weeks of unemployment compensation in Pennsylvania.

The question, in Pennsylvania, however, is whether the administration can act immediately, under the present state unemployment compensation law to accept federal aid to pay the extended benefits.

Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride told a newsman Thursday, "we expect to rule on that measure shortly, probably Monday or Tuesday."

William L. Batt Jr., secretary of labor and industry, declined to comment on the question.

Bullets Will Leave Sunday Morning For Eastern College Tournament At Springfield

Coach Bob Hulton and a 16-man Gettysburg College baseball squad will leave Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock by bus for Springfield, Mass., where the Bullets will take part in the Eastern College Division baseball tournament, sponsored by the NCAA.

The Bullets (14-3), representing District 2, meet St. Lawrence (9-2), also of District 2, in the first game of a doubleheader on the Springfield College diamond at 1 p.m. Monday. In the second game Springfield (12-2), District 1, opposes Trinity (7-4), District 1. The winners will meet in the championship game Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Awards To Be Given
Immediately following Tuesday's title game a first-place plaque and 16 gold baseball medals will be awarded the winning team, and a runner-up plaque and 16 silver baseball medals to the losing team.

The Bullets, bypassed by the Middle Atlantic Conference despite having the best Northern Division record on 12-1, were invited to the tournament on the basis of their brilliant overall 14-3 record.

Bullet Averages
Gettysburg's attack will be centered on Frank Capitani, senior centerfielder, who collected 36 hits in 67 official times at bat this season for a .538 mark. His hits included seven doubles, five triples and three home runs. He is expected to sign with a major league club next week.

Other hitting averages the Bullets will carry into the tournament are: Rittter Smith 348; Harry Binger 325; Jerry Long 285; Leroy Bream 262; Jeff Kahler, 253; Larry Lidel 212; Jack Maloney 180, and Bruce Wandling 231.

Larries Have Vet Squad
St. Lawrence, located at Canton, N. Y., won a 12-2 decision over LeMoyne in Syracuse and then lost a 4-3 11-inning game to Colgate. After that the Larries ran up eight straight triumphs as follows: Rochester 9-3; Rensselaer Polytechnic 9-2; Hobart 6-5; Norwich 13-10; St. Michaels 12-3; Middlebury 7-6; Syracuse 2-1, and Vermont 3-1. Last Saturday Clarkson stopped St. Lawrence 2-1 in 10 frames.

George Menard, St. Lawrence coach, has nine lettersmen on his squad from 1957. Included is the entire infield of Bob Duncan, 1b; Al Geppert, 2b; Chuck Badone, ss, and Paul DeKosvay, 3b. Jack Alois, another vet, is the top receiver.

Carrying the burden on the mound this year are Lou Presley, a left-hander, and Pat Presley, right-hander, both veterans.

Fete Van de Water, centerfielder, led the Larries in hitting last year with a .314 average.

GOMEZ GOES FOR GIANTS AGAINST CARDS TODAY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Memorial Day, the first quarter pole in the major league pennant races, dawned with the San Francisco Giants needing no better than a split at St. Louis to retain the National League lead.

In the American, there was a chance for a wholesale shakeup for second place.

The Giants, two games ahead of the world champion Milwaukee Braves, picked Ruben Gomez (5-3) and Mike McCormick (4-0) for their double-header against Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (2-5) and Jim Brosnan (4-4) of the seventh-place Cardinals.

Unprecedented Lead
This was Ruben's first appearance since calling off his bluff about not paying a $100 fine for his part in a beanball fracas at Pittsburgh last Sunday. Rookie first baseman Orlando Cepeda of the Giants also decided to pay his $100 fine.

The Braves were at Pittsburgh with Lew Burdette (4-3) and Bob Rush (4-2) doing the pitching. The third-place Pirates, five games behind the Giants, named Vern Law (5-3) and rookie Curt Raydon (0-1).

In the American League, first-place New York took an unprecedented May 30 lead of 7½ games into a pair against last-place Washington at Yankee Stadium. Bobby Shantz (4-0) and Whitey Ford (5-2), both southpaws, faced the Senators' Pete Ramos (2-4) and Russ Kemmerer (1-3).

Skowron In Uniform
The Yankees, facing their first "crisis" after losing to the Kansas City Athletics in a two-game series sweep, hustled first baseman Bill Skowron back into uniform. The Moose, out since May 11, when he injured his back, will be available for pinch-hitting chores.

The A's, riding a four-game streak, are at home for a morning-afternoon doubleheader against third-place Cleveland. The Indians, who Tuesday asked waivers on ailing right-hander Mike Garcia, trail the A's by a game. They picked Dick Tomaneck (1-1) and Ray Narleski (5-4) in a bid for second place against Kansas City's Ralph Terry (2-3) and comeback guy Ned Garver (6-1).

Tiger Streak On Line
Detroit put a five-game winning streak and a crack at fourth place on the line against the Chicago White Sox. The Tigers, trailing the fifth-place White Sox by a half-game and fourth-place Boston by one, sent Jim Bunning (2-4) and Hank Aguirre (1-0) to Tom Morgan (0-3) against Billy Pierce (2-4) and Dick Donovan (2-5).

The Red Sox played two at Baltimore.

The other NL games had Los Angeles at Chicago for two, and Cincinnati at Philadelphia in the day's lone single game.

No games were scheduled Thursday in either league.

HAMNER MAY BE OUT FOR SEASON WITH INJURY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Granny Hamner, so wrapped up in baseball he once said he knew no other way to earn a living, today is facing another crisis which may hasten the end of his playing career.

The spirited Philadelphia Phillies infielder is resting in a hospital, his left leg in a cast after a two-hour operation Thursday for a torn ligament in his knee.

"Granny will have to be laid up from 12 to 15 weeks," Dr. Thomas F. McTeer, Phillies physician, said. "He'll be in a cast four to six weeks and he'll spend the rest of the time getting a complete rest. He should be able to regain mobility in the knee."

He said it was probable Hamner, 31, would not play again this season.

The Phillies plan to place Hamner on the disabled list and call another infielder from the minors.

Hamner was injured playing second base in the second inning of Monday's game against the Los Angeles Dodgers at Connie Mack Stadium. Sliding Charley Neal blocked Hamner while the Richmond, Va., infielder was trying to complete a double play.

Ten Years A Regular
Granny, a Phillies regular since 1948, was hitting .301 and leading the team in runs batted in and doubles when he was injured. It appeared he was successfully making a comeback after a painful left shoulder injury drove him to become a pitcher to save his playing career last season. The shoulder prevented him from swinging a bat properly.

Last season, Hamner was asked what he would do if the injury ended his active playing career. He looked shocked at the very idea, shrugged and said, "Maybe I'll drive a truck; I don't know."

YANKS WORRY ABOUT MANTLE STRIKEOUTS

NEW YORK (AP) — What can you find to worry about when you are leading the league by 7½ games?

Well, in the case of the New York Yankees there always is Mickey Mantle.

Either Mickey isn't hitting enough home runs or he is striking out too much. Maybe he isn't getting the jump on the long fly ball hit over his head. Or perhaps he is limping. Or maybe his shoulder aches.

6 Strikeouts In 2 Games
At the moment it is the strikeout total that is causing a mild uproar. He struck out six times in the last two games at Kansas City, both of which were lost.

Mantle now has struck out 32 times in 32 games as compared with his career low of 75 last season in the entire schedule. He whiffed 15 times on the 13-game road trip that ended Wednesday in Kansas City.

His average is down to .269 and he has hit only four home runs. "I've got to lick the thing myself," he said. "I've got to fight my way out of it and I will."

Shoulder Sore
"My right shoulder is sore but that's not the reason I've been looking so bad. I'm not swinging the way I should. I guess anybody can see that."

"He's right if he says he's pulling his head off the ball," said Manager Casey Stengel. "Sometimes he's looking way up there instead of down here."

Gil McDougald, Yankee second baseman, thinks Mickey is worrying too much about his problems at the plate.

"One thing I do know, he's not whipping his head off the ball through his natural way," said McDougald. "That means he's thinking about his slump and no ballplayer in the world can afford to do that."

Lions vs. Moose, 6:15

The Moose of the Gettysburg Little League strengthened their hold on second place by scoring six runs in the last two innings to take a 6-2 victory over the Glenn L. Bream team Thursday evening on the Little League diamond.

After playing two scoreless innings the Breammen took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the third. With one out, Ronnie Redding took first via an infield error, Tom McDermitt went down swinging but Roy Fairman singled and Charlie Schleicher lashed out a double scoring Redding and Fairman.

In the top of the fifth the Moose team fought back to score three times and go ahead 3-2. Singles by Chris Richardson, Richie Fair and Richard Bruce and several Bream errors accounted for the three runs.

The Moose came back with three more security runs in the sixth when Bob Greiner singled, ersen put Tom Whittinghill, Jim Rosensteel, and Gary Hartman on base, and Rickie Fisel followed with a double to left.

Rick Fisel paced the winners with a pair of safeties while Tom McDermitt belted out the same number of hits to lead the Bream hitting attack. Bob Greiner went the distance on the mound for the Moose to take his second straight win as Roy Fairman, who was relieved by Rick Jones, was charged with the loss.

Gil McDougald, Yankee second baseman, thinks Mickey is worrying too much about his problems at the plate.

"One thing I do know, he's not whipping his head off the ball through his natural way," said McDougald. "That means he's thinking about his slump and no ballplayer in the world can afford to do that."

SAYS HUSBANDS ARE LIKELY TO BE "CODDLED"

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The currently popular view of the American woman is that she has two heads, breathes fire and beats her husband every morning before breakfast.

She is accused of wearing the pants in the family and wielding the whip, of driving her husband to an early grave and robbing him of his manhood.

The latest diatribe against the beleaguered American female is a grim little book called "The Decline of the American Male" by three males. It is illustrated with macabre sketches, showing helpless little men being squashed like bugs beneath the thumbs of giant women, lashed to a treadmill or driven into a rat race.

She Makes Decisions

According to the three authors, Mr. America is in a bad way. His wife, they say, makes all the decisions of daily living, up to and including sex. She gives him an apron and makes him do the housework. She forces him to greater and greater exertions in order that she may keep up with her girl friends in mink coats, diamonds and automobiles. She won't let him go out with the boys at night, and objects when he wants to spend a few hours on the golf course in innocent play.

She ridicules him when he fails to get a raise at the office and chastises him when he makes a mistake at home.

If this is all true, we women should be pretty sick of ourselves by now.

More Likely To Coddle

Maybe I don't move in the right circles, but the women I know don't have two heads—or if they do, it doesn't show. They are more likely to overcoddle a husband than to horsewhip him. They worry about his colds and whether he wears his rubbers. And they hate to have him take a hand with the housework—it's always so much more trouble cleaning up after him.

When the men of my acquaintance take on household chores, it's always the domestic ones, and in public. They love to grill a thick steak at a cookout, provided the rest of the meal has been prepared in advance, and there's a woman around to wash the dishes.

When pressed, they will mind the baby while Mom does the marketing—but don't think she won't hear about it for weeks to come.

She Might Object

And that growing number of American women who hold down jobs outside the home are so worried, according to my observation, about becoming unfeminine that they redouble their efforts at cooking, housekeeping and looking glamorous after hours. Domesticity becomes something to be jealously guarded.

The authors don't offer much of a solution for the burdens of the modern man, except to suggest that he really should revolt. But they conclude: "The only trouble is, would his wife object?"

Legrand Scott Jr., second baseman, led the University of Alabama team in hitting this spring with a .343 mark in 19 games. His father played as an outfielder for the 1939 Philadelphia Phils.

Earl Guise And Son Meet Farm Needs

Earl W. Guise has conducted a farm machinery and repair shop for the last 18 years. He started the business on his farm five miles north of Gettysburg on the Harrisburg Rd. in 1940.

As the demand from the farmers and gardeners grew for his services and new machinery, Mr. Guise built a new, spacious business place for the convenience of his customers 12 years ago. His son, Kenneth, also has been associated with him since 1946.

Earl W. Guise and Son are exclusive dealers in Oliver, "finest in farm machinery," Mr. Guise said: "The increased demand for both speed and gentle action in hay baling has been answered in the new No. 60T and No. 60W balers. One ties with twine, the other with wire. Both incorporate a 'pivot-balance' drive that permits short, fast turns without putting undue stress on the PTO. Both models are available with either PTO or air-cooled engine drive."

They had this to say about the Oliver tractor, "Power, power, and more power is the story on the all-new Oliver tractors. New engine power is front, new traction power behind, and the new power-booster drive is up 32 per cent on Models 770 and 880. You shift when you need more pull — without stopping, and without clutching."

For the farmer or gardener who wants better farming for better living, Earl W. Guise and Son offer machinery to meet every need.

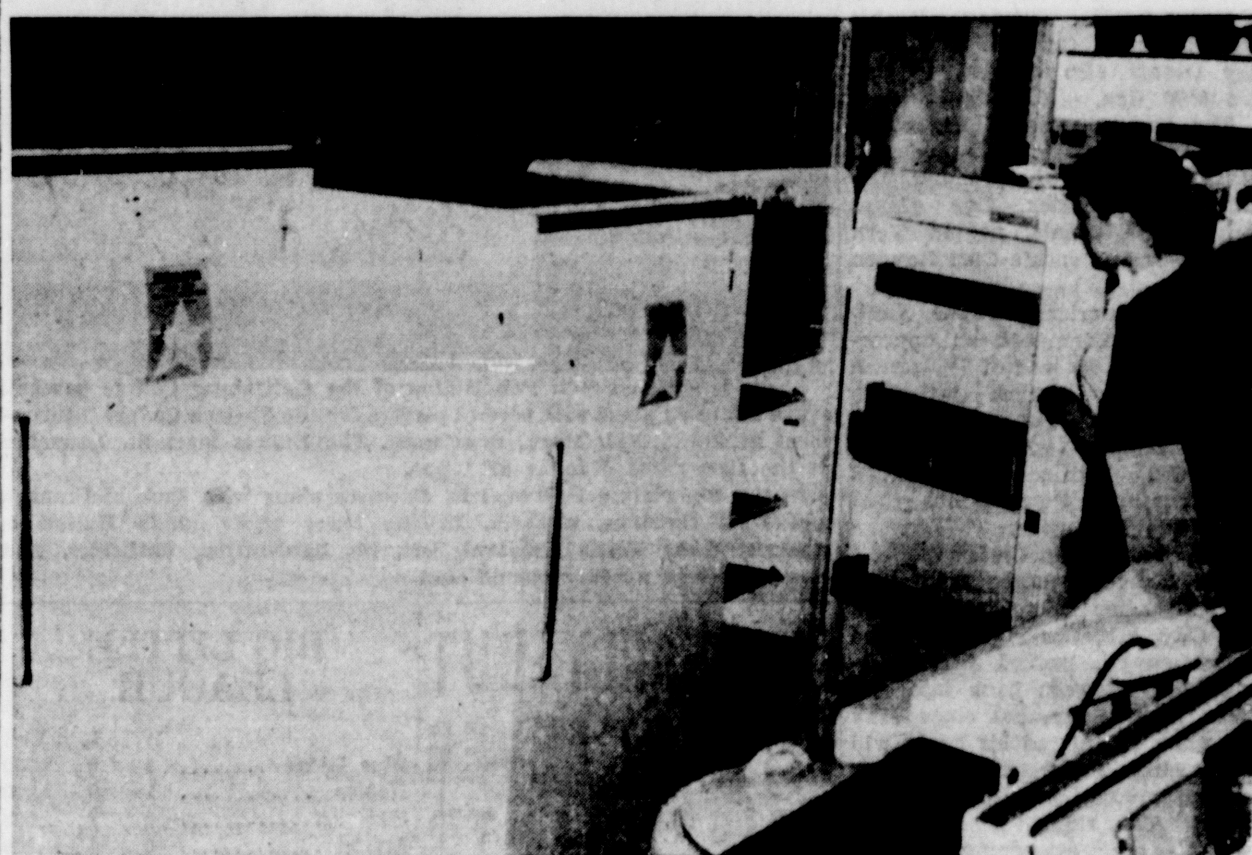

Red Run Lodge Serving In Its 20th Season

The restaurant at Red Run Lodge has long been famous for fine food. The daily menu offers many attractive dishes. They feature chicken in the basket, steaks and country ham. Home-baked pies are always a favorite. The restaurant is open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. and serves breakfast, lunch and dinner. During the summer months, many

The pleasant and attractive rooms in the lodge and the adjoining 16 units are rented for a day or by the week.

The surrounding park and lake bring many people to the lodge daily for swimming, picnicking and play. It is favorite spot when the temperatures begin to soar.

There is no change for the outdoor facilities at Red Run Lodge and the management invites the public to avail themselves of this restful and comfortable spot.

Wentz's Store In 37th Year At Same Site

Wentz's Furniture Store is entering its 37th year of successful operation at the same location on Baltimore St.

The store was opened by Roy W. Wentz on February 9, 1922, after he had entered the local furniture factories as a bookkeeper at the age of 18.

He had risen to the post of secretary-treasurer of the Reaser-Gettysburg Furniture Companies when he resigned late in 1921 to purchase the H. B. Bender Furniture Store and go into business for himself.

Has Old Deed

Mr. Wentz, with his experience in furniture gained at the furniture factory, decided to purchase the business while Mr. Bender continued his funeral parlor where the Virginia Myers store is now located. In 1938, when Bender moved to Carlisle St., Mr. Wentz purchased the entire building.

On display at the store is the original deed dating back to 1793, at a cost of three pounds and 15 shillings.

A business that caters to a family's needs for furniture, Wentz's carries the most complete line of nationally-known furniture for the homemaker, such as living room suites by Kroehler, Rowe, Kenmar and Berkeley; bedroom suites by Drexel, Willett, Bassett and Jamestown; luggage by Samsonite; juvenile furniture and all accessories for the home or office.

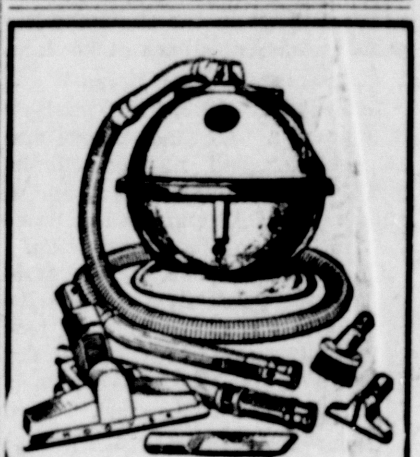

Eldest Son With Him

Wentz's is the oldest representative in Gettysburg of Hoover products in sales and service.

Harold Wentz, the eldest of three sons and former commander of the Gettysburg American Legion Post, was "born and bred" in the furniture business. After completing his schooling in 1931, he joined his father in the business, full-time. The homemaker looking for fine furniture should visit the "Home of Fine Furniture," Wentz's.

Simpson Has Three Choices In New Homes

It has often been said, "A home is a man's castle." And the man looking for such a home should see Glenn E. Simpson, one mile north of Gettysburg on Rt. 15.

Mr. Simpson has been with Northern Home for three years, having joined the organization in May, 1955.

The prospective home owner has three choices of building a Northern Home—Do-it-yourself plan; let Mr. Simpson build the entire home, or build part of it.

For the modern "Do-it-yourself" home owner, material for a complete three-bedroom house costs as low as $3,000, including rock, lath, insulation, roof, all interior trim, hardwood floors, hardware, glass, etc.

Has Built Over 50

The first Northern Home company opened in this area in Chambersburg in early 1954 and has enjoyed a most successful home construction program, averaging nine homes a week.

In Adams County, Mr. Simpson has built more than 50 Northern Homes. He says the large selection of styles and designs offered by Northern Homes has contributed much to please his customers. Whether the family requires a two-bedroom, three-bedroom, or a more elaborate home, a Northern Home can be the answer.

For instance, a two-bedroom home, complete, costs from $8,500 up, while the three-bedroom house, complete, is priced from $10,000 and up. These prices do not include lots. The family who wants "a castle

Exhibits And History Mix At Diorama

The Gettysburg Battlefield Diorama is a fascinating exhibit, showing the highlights of the three-day battle with incredible realism. Marching men, charging men, falling men, flashing and smoking cannons, burning wagons and wheat-fields, all in miniature, are shown on a giant platform. This exhibit is a marvelous historical and educational feature and one of the most outstanding in Gettysburg.

Equally fascinating, particularly to those who enjoy the architecture, history and charm of century-old houses, is the home of Diorama. The Dobbin House was built in 1776 by the Rev. Alexander Dobbin on land granted by William Penn. It has 11 rooms.

The main entrance room has a display of many war relics and the walls have an unusual exhibit of actual photographs made on the battlefields during the Battle of Gettysburg. Gifts and souvenirs are displayed in a section of the entrance room. The upstairs houses the Diorama exhibit.

Underground R.R. Station
The original kitchen to the left of the entrance room holds much of interest. A stairway from the kitchen leads to a small overhead room which was used as a hiding place for runaway slaves. Also leading from the kitchen is the cellar which is said to have been the first underground railway station for slaves.

A closet with a hidden door, used for a preserve cupboard, aided the slaves in their hiding during the day. They fled north at nightfall. In the cellar is a spring which still is cold and clear. The first thought of the early pioneer was to build his house over a spring when possible for convenience, for natural refrigeration and to assure the safety of a water supply in the event of an Indian attack. A huge fireplace in the kitchen with many of the early cooking utensils used during the pioneer days is of great interest.

The Dobbin House was used as a hospital for both armies during the Battle of Gettysburg and because of its location was hit by guns of both armies.

"KNOWN BUT TO GOD"

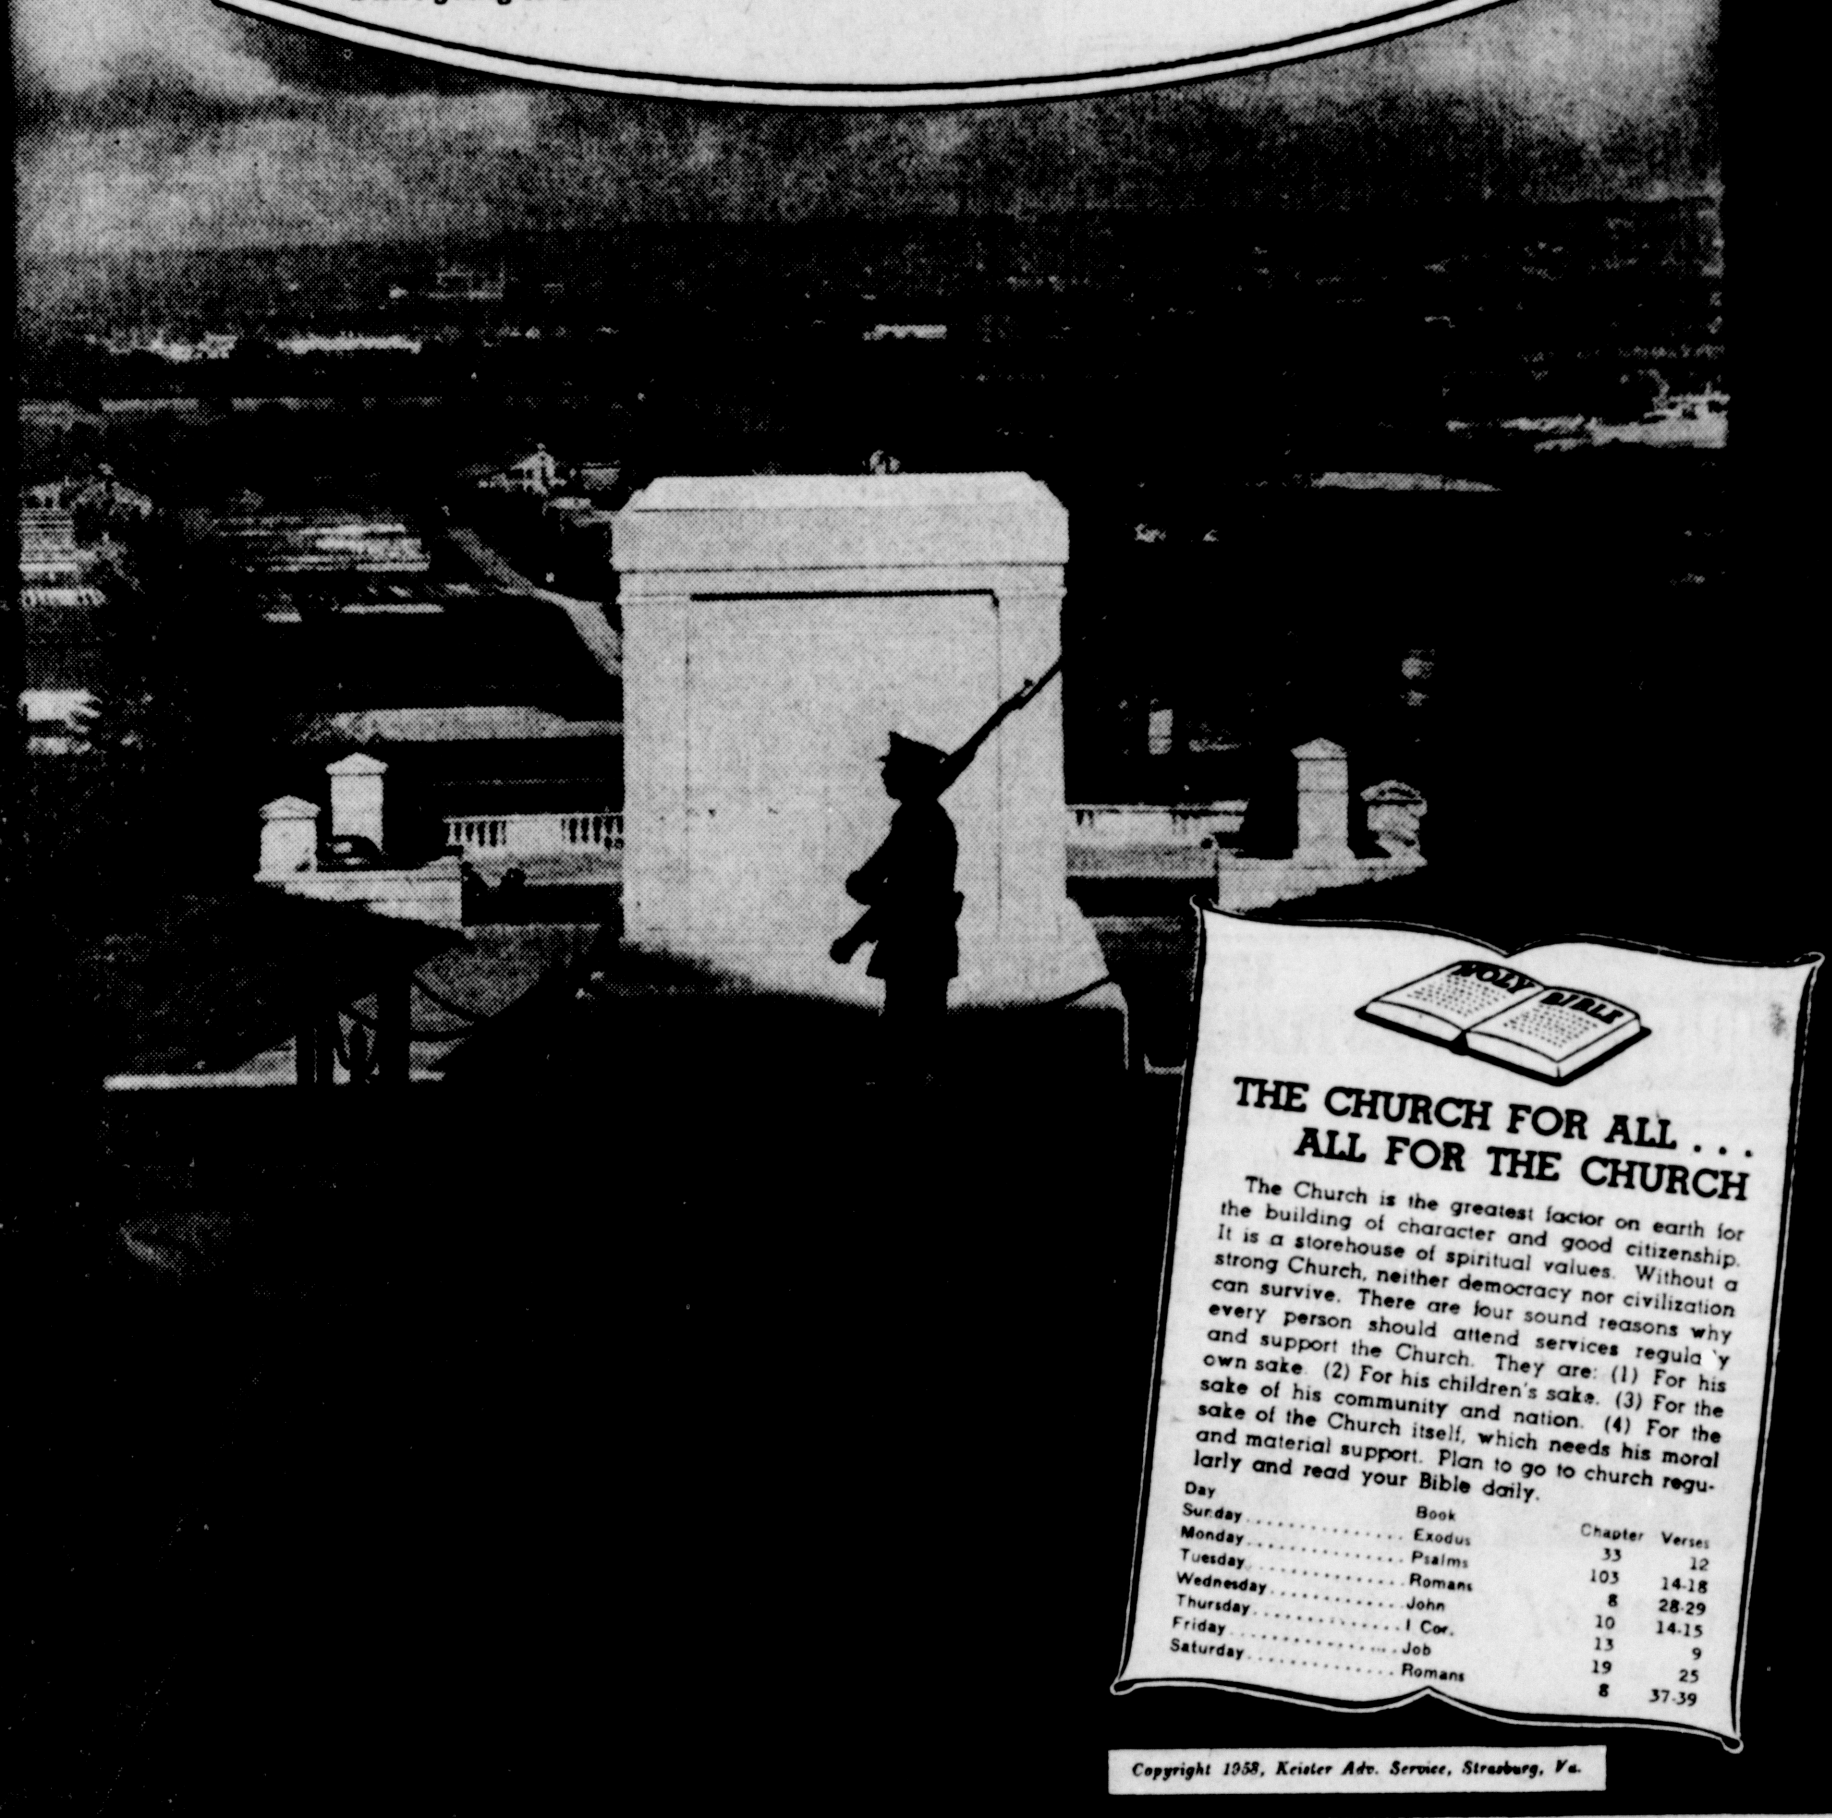

Thousands flock every year from all corners of our nation to stand in hushed reverence before the tomb of the soldier "known but to God."

To all others, he is labeled "Unknown." And in this fact alone, there is tremendous significance. No man knows who this boy really was—but God knows!

God knows you, too, as he knows every man, every woman, every child in the world. That means that no matter who you are, no matter what you do, you can never be really "unknown."

You might ask yourself, "Do I know Him?" If the answer is negative, remember that your first step in finding Him is the step that takes you through the door of His house on earth.

Start going to church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday School Lesson

By H. R. and M. C. Gold

A NEW LEADER COMMISSIONED
Numbers 27:18-20; Joshua 1:1-9
Key Verse: Be strong and of good courage; be not frightened, neither be dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go. Joshua 1:9.

As we review the recent lessons in which the Israelites were led by Moses across the wilderness to the very threshold of the Promised Land several things stand out clearly. This transplanting of a whole nation bodily from one land to another was one of the greatest miracles of all the ages and was accomplished only through the direct help of God.

The purpose of the miracles performed in the wilderness was three-fold: (1) to preserve the Hebrew nation as the instrument to pave the way for the Messiah; (2) to build into the nation, which had been surrounded by Egyptian idolatry, faith in Jehovah as the one true God; (3) for the effect on the surrounding nations, particularly the Canaanites.

Welded Into Nation
Under Moses' superb leadership the slave tribes were welded into a nation under God, ready now to assume responsibilities as God's chosen people. Moses had discharged his divinely-appointed tasks with honor and distinction, and brought the people safely to the plains of Moab across the Jordan from Canaan. From the summit of Mt. Nebo he could see the hills of Judea and Galilee and also Mt. Carmel. It was there that God called him home, following Aaron and Miriam who had died months before.

But before Moses ended his earthly life, he selected and ordained Joshua as leader, because the entrance of the Israelites into Canaan required a military genius. Joshua had served as a personal attendant of Moses ever since the days of Sinai. It was he who was the commander in the battle with Amalek and he was one of the 12 spies sent to spy out the new land. In fact, he and Caleb were the only two men of the Israelites to live over 60 years and privileged to enter the Promised Land. He was a skilled warrior and had learned the art of statesmanship and leadership from Moses. This son of Nun of the tribe of Benjamin became the acknowledged leader at the age of 80 years.

The name Joshua means "the Lord delivers," and the man himself is described in Deuteronomy 34:9 as one "in whom is the spirit of wisdom." Moses commissioned Joshua before Eleazar, son of Aaron and the priest, and in the sight of all the congregation — a sign of transference of authority and a public declaration that Joshua was the official successor to Moses. Throughout the personal account of Moses and Joshua Moses is called the "servant of the Lord" and Joshua is referred to as "Moses' minister."

Promises To Joshua
And the Lord made definite promises to Joshua in Joshua 1:3-6. "No man shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life; as I was with Moses, so will I be with you; I will not fail you or forsake you." The only response God required was that the new leader and his associates "be strong and of good courage." If they would abide by the laws Moses gave them, they would have success wherever they went.

Faithfulness to the Word of God will gradually bring success because qualities of character and leadership develop in the process. It required seven years for Joshua to subdue the tribes in and around Canaan but he succeeded and successfully led the Israelites across the Jordan near Jericho. The hope of all Israel was achieved — the conquest of the Promised Land under consecrated leaders. Joshua held the people to their covenant with God, making them promise not to worship idols, but Moses, the father of Israel, always remained as the most powerful personality in their nation's religious history.

HONOLULU (AP) — Democrats on two of Hawaii's islands are using a subtle touch in a drive to legalize cockfighting here.

They seek to include in the 1958 Democratic platform a plank which pledges the party to "encourage the raising and breeding of poultry to implement recreational activity."

POWELL GETS GOP BACKING

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.), dropped by his own party, has gained the Republican nomination for re-election to Congress from his Harlem district.

New York County GOP leaders endorsed Powell's nomination Thursday by a 6-1 vote. County Chairman Thomas Curran opposed the naming of Powell, but said he would abide by the majority decision.

The county committee of Powell's 16th Congressional District is within a week.

Powell has said he is running in the August primary as an independent Democrat. In a statement Thursday night the Negro congressman said he would accept the Republican nomination "with a deep sense of gratitude."

Powell crossed party lines in 1955 and supported President Eisenhower for re-election. He gave the segregation issue as his reason for the switch. Tammany Hall leaders recently voted not to support Powell and chose as his successor City Councilman Earl Brown, also a Negro.

Powell currently is under indictment on federal income tax charges. He has pleaded innocent.

When one of the baby rats died, she consulted a couple of books on taxidermy and stuffed it. When she stumbled on a dead screech owl she prepared it and entered it in the DeKalb science fair.

Now she is trying to prepare a raccoon.

PRESBYTERIANS VOTE DELAY ON PLAN CHANGES

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A continuing struggle was evident among Presbyterians today over a move to set up a sort of fair employment practices system in the church.

The objective cited is to assure Negro ministers an equal chance to get pulpits.

An asserted custom of assigning ministers to congregations of racial makeup akin to their own came under criticism at the Assembly of the newly merged United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Vote For Delay
Some leaders want the procedure changed, terming it conducive to racial discrimination. Others, however, oppose any change.

New regulations were proposed by the Pittsburgh Presbytery which would bar any designation of race or color in denominational files on clergymen, and require that assignments be made without regard to such factors.

However, delegates voted to delay action on the measure for a year's study, after several advised a cautious approach.

JOBLESS LISTS KEEP FALLING

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment among workers insured for jobless benefits has declined for the fifth straight week.

A government report Thursday said a decline of 62,000 during the week of May 17 left an unemployed total of 3,019,500 for this category.

Other reports showed:
1. Americans paid off their in-

63,562 under the figure for April 1957.

Byrd listed the total as 2,333,202 in April compared with 2,323,947 in March and 2,395,764 in April a year ago.

stallment loans faster than they obligated themselves for new ones during April. With allowances for seasonal factors, consumer installment credit outstanding declined 123 million dollars, most of it in automobile loans.

2. Department store sales were up 3 per cent last week over the comparable week of 1957, with higher sales reported in 9 of the 12 federal reserve districts. But the total for the year to date was 3 per cent below that for the corresponding period last year.

In releasing the unemployment figures, the Labor Department noted that more than 900,000 workers have exhausted benefit rights and are not counted among the insured unemployed. But some of these, officials said, have undoubtedly found new jobs.

About one out of four students who enter college drops out before the end of the freshman year, the U. S. Office of Education reports.

REPORT LINER WAS 'BUZZED'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Administration today had a report by a United Airlines pilot and 15 of his 57 passengers charging that an Air Force B47 jet bomber "deliberately buzzed" their DC7 near Salina, Kan.

One of the passengers, Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California, dozed during the incident Thursday. He commented after landing here "such things aren't pleasant. I'm glad it was a near miss."

Col. Gordon E. Hein, commanding officer of Schilling Air Force Base of the Strategic Air Command, which is near Salina, said his base had no planes aloft at the time the airliner was reported passing.

The airliner carried a crew of five besides the 57 passengers. It made one stop, at Washington, on its flight from Philadelphia.

LARGE AUDIENCE FOR MEMORIAL RITES THURSDAY

"We observe this Memorial Day with reverence to the nation, the state and the community's heroic dead," said the Rev. Fr. Salvatore Zangari, Lebanon, in his address delivered at the annual Memorial Day service in Littlestown on Thursday evening. The service took place in Mt. Carmel Cemetery, following the parade.

Pathe Zangari, who served with the 25th Division from 1952 to 1955 in Korea as captain chaplain, was introduced to the large audience by John H. Riley, master of ceremonies. The speaker is also captain chaplain of the 104th Cavalry Regiment currently and part time chaplain at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Lebanon. He stated that "it is timely on this Memorial Day of 1958 that our nation should honor the war heroes lying in state in Washington because, in recent years, too many Americans consider Memorial Day as a gay holiday rather than a day when we should honor all those veterans who fought and died of to preserve freedom for all of us, from the freezing days at Valley Forge to those of sudden death on Heartbreak Ridge." As an antidote to future wars, Father Zangari appealed to his listeners to begin family devotions in the home every day, to attend church services regularly and to work at religious education of youth, programs which are all endorsed by veterans organizations and which are so important in national community life. He commended the local committee for the efforts to give honor to our heroes and his closing prayer was "God Give Them Eternal Rest."

The service in the cemetery also included the invocation by the Rev. Fr. William A. Boyle, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church; a selection by the Littlestown High School Blue Band, under the direction of Paul A. Harner; expression of thanks on behalf of the Allied Veterans Council, to all those who participated in the parade and assisted with arrangements; and a reading by Chairman Riley on Memorial Day. The gun salute with massed flags at attention was followed by taps, played by Hugh Roberts, and benediction by the Rev. Glenn Flinchbaugh, pastor of Redeemer's United Church of Christ. The firing squad was composed of Albert W. Zercher, Earl L. Stites, Carroll E. Arter, Elmer W. M. Dutera, Pius V. Pautenis Sr., J. Gerald Daley, Albert J. Boyd and Guy L. Conover.

Parade Is Held

The parade preceded the memorial service and the line-up was enjoyed by the crowds along the parade route, and included: Mounted marshals, Oscar Sentz and Lawrence Haines; members of the borough council; the Susquehanna Post No. 2493, Mt. You're Transported By Your Loyalties On Memorial Day

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—On Memorial Day you might as well put the moral at the start:
"Keep living!"

The purpose of the dead is for us to be. They ran out of breath for us.

On this day of national recognition of mortality, time gives us a pause. This pause gives us time to reflect. We jubilate the past and hold a heart-coming for the dear dead.

It's An Opportunity
Memorial Day is an opportunity. It is an opportunity to admire your ancestors. There under known stars they glimmer unknown forever. They putus here.

It is a day to honor a husband, brother, son, or friend, dead or away—and absence is a form of death.

The whole problem of Memorial Day is one of transportation. You are transported by your loyalties, and remembrance.

Neither Altogether Alone
Life hesitates. The eternal glow of ambition is reduced to a grumble. Yet a son, as he sheds a tear on the grave of his father, wants to step farther and be buried near.

Here on the hill of a moment, a humanity afraid of itself flies the flag all people salute—the one that waves for the ones who went before.

It would be nice on Memorial Day if neither the dead nor the living were altogether alone.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Republican State Committee has set June 21 for its biennial reorganization meeting in Philadelphia.

George I. Bloom, GOP state chairman, declined to say if he would seek re-election to the organization's top post.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

HANDY HUBBY SEWS DRESSES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Shirley Ramsey doesn't worry about her clothes — her husband makes all of them.

He turns out chiffons, satins and beaded gowns at what he estimates is a $75 savings. He's been designing and making the dresses for nine years.

George Ramsey majored in fine arts at the University of Mexico. He formerly was a technical director of the Little Theater here and now is a free lance commercial artist, designer of floral arrangements and fashion coordinator at fashion shows and stage productions.

He does his sewing as three young Ramseys and two puppies romp through the house.

Mrs. Ramsey is 5 feet 6 and has no figure problems, he says. Sometimes he creates a dress on paper; sometimes as he goes along. At times he fits it as he makes it; at other times he sews from a pattern.

"Any man familiar with construction fields, interior decorating, color, line and detail should be able to sew," he says.

He not only makes his wife's clothes — he made all the furniture in their home, also.

FOUR KILLED

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Four persons were killed in the Moslem quarter of Beirut early Thursday in a clash between civilian partisans of the government and the opposition.

Sporadic shooting was heard in various sectors of Beirut during the night, after the city had gone through the calmest 24 hours in the past 20 days.

Mihaly Igloi, a Hungarian refugee, is coaching track at Santa Clara.

TWO TV DRAMAS DEVELOP INTO POPULAR NOVEL

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Numerous novels have been made into television dramas, but now—for the first time—there comes the case of two popular TV dramas growing into a popular novel.

Viewers surely remember two Playhouse 90 (CBS-TV) dramas by Ellick Moll concerning a warm-hearted New York dress manufacturer, Morris Seidman; "Seidman and Son," starring Eddie Cahol, in October 1956, and "The Gentleman from Seventh Avenue" starring Walter Slezak, last January.

Now, with the publication of Moll's "Seidman and Son" by Putnam, it appears the Seidmans, father and son, will be as popular with readers as with TV viewers. The novel is a current selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club, has been purchased by the Reader's Digest Book Club, and its publisher is inundated with orders. Already yet, as Seidman would say, Broadway producers want Moll to make a play of it.

Moll is surprised. The credit, he feels, goes to Seidman rather than Moll.

"Morris Seidman literally seemed to walk into my study," he said the other day. "I rushed into the kitchen and told my wife about him and she said, 'Go back and write, idiot.' So I went back and wrote."

Seidman strolled into Moll's life one day in 1956, bringing with him many of the qualities of Moll's deceased father and father-in-law, both New York garment manufacturers.

First Moll wrote a story about Seidman, which was the basis for his "Playhouse 90" script. Then he wrote another story — and another TV script from that.

"Even after that second script," he says, "Seidman still wouldn't go away. So I sat down at my typewriter and after a while there was 350 pages finished. My agent sent it to Putnam and they took it immediately."

The book critics generally have responded as warmly to Seidman's warmth as did the television critics.
